HARDING ADDS HIS PRAISE TO BERA

Three Presidents Have Now Complimented Work This Great School Is Doing

Berea, Ky., Sept. 19.—"Berea College aims to carry the opportunity of higher education to one of the finest stocks of original Americans that are to be found in this country," President Harding writes, in commending the unique work the institution is doing in placing education within reach of the 3,000,000 pioneer Americans shut away in the great Appalachian Highlands.

"It has been their misfortune," the President continues, "to live away from the great highroads of American migration and development, and therefore to have been somewhat passed by in the march of cultural development of recent decades. We all know that they are of the finest and most patriotic elements of the Nation, and the splendid work that Berea College is doing among them is thoroughly deserving of all appreciation."

Berea College established in the Cumberland foothills of Kentucky, at the gateway of the great Appalachian area, is elementary school, high school, college, vocational school, all in one. This unusual division of activities has grown up to meet the peculiar needs of the mountaineers in the eight Southern states from which most of Berea's students come.

Cut off from the outer world and from each other by the narrow gorges and mountain barriers of the Cumberland and Appalachian mountains, these people of purest American stock have lived since Revolutionary times an independent life, little influenced by the development of the rest of the country. Many customs of an earlier generation have thus been preserved intact, such as use of the ancient handloom, the making and singing of ballads, in some cases the idiom of Chaucer and Shakespeare. But the advancement of the mining companies into this region of great mineral wealth is introducing modern conditions, and the mountaineer needs education to cope successfully with them.

Berea, with more than half a century of growth behind it, is devoting every effort to supply this education. No one is too poor or too old to be welcome at Berea, provided he or she has a will to work and a longing to learn. The Foundation School gives primary training to those who had no opportunity for even the simplest education until they were over fifteen. White-haired men and women are found in the classes, learning to read and write.

The student at Berea pays only for keep and books, and in many instances "works out" even this charge. Every student must work at least two hours a day to meet the charges of his or her education and many work their way thru entirely. The College is also sending extension workers, traveling libraries, and its book wagon on far back into the hills to aid those who cannot otherwise be reached.

Berea is caring for over 2,500 students each year. Dormitories are crowded, makeshift housing and class-rooms have to be resorted to, and the faculty is working overtime and at the minimum of compensation. Yet hundreds are turned away because Berea cannot provide for them.

Possessing no adequate endowment, Berea must rely on individual donations. It is making its appeal for $1,000,000 to the entire country because the obligation to place the means of education within the reach of these pioneer Americans is a national one, their due by every right of blood, inheritance, and patriotic service.

President Harding's commendation is a note of trilogy of presidential praise of this unique institution, for Theodore Roosevelt once wrote: "I do not know an institution doing a more necessary work," and former President Wilson paid this tribute: "There is no single place where aid can do so much and so evident good."

Adair County Doctor Dies at 68
Columbia, Ky., Sept. 17.—Dr. N. M. Hancock, 68 years old, of Cane Valley, Ky., died here.

Preachers Condemn Race Betting

Betting on the races was condemned in addresses at the Methodist church Sunday night by Drs. R. L. Telford, O. O. Green, W. O. Sadler, and H. W. Carpenter, four pastors. Union services of the four Protestant churches were held and a large congregation was present. This subject was taken up as part of the campaign which was inaugurated with headquarters in Louisville to attempt to have adverse legislation passed in Kentucky.

DYNAMITE CHIEF CAUGHT IN CHICAGO

(By Associated Press)
Chicago, Sept. 19.—Forty-four hundred sticks of dynamite and hundreds of sticks of T N T were seized by police here today following the capture of five dynamiters in the act of bombing a shoe repair shop. Richard Burke, 23, was shot in the side by the police, who surrounded the shop on a tip the place was to be bombed. Four other men surrendered. Burke said he supplied several labor unions with explosives and men to throw them. Chief Hughes said the arrest would clear up scores of bomb explosions. Before being shot, Burke hurled a bomb into the shoe repair shop, tearing out the front and breaking windows for blocks around.

BRYAN IN LOUISVILLE

Says Dry Enforcement All That Can Be Expected

(By Associated Press)
Louisville, Sept. 19.—William Jennings Bryan arrived here today to deliver an address tonight on "The Bible and Its Enemies." In a statement he said universal disarmament is the only alternative to universal bankruptcy. He asserted that prohibition enforcement is all that could be expected and he is not surprised it may take time to make enforcement complete. He declared there will be no propaganda in favor of increased Sabbath restriction and anti-Blue Laws organizations are purposely exaggerating the intentions of those interested in Sabbath observance. He refused to discuss dancing, saying he is principally interested in public questions.

IN SPECIAL TRAIN

Dry Officers Go After 'Shiners' In Mountains of Knox

(By Associated Press)
Lexington, Ky., Sept. 19.—A special train carrying a large number of deputies, headed by Prohibition Enforcement Agent John Wilson and the sheriff of Bell county, left Pineville Sunday for the Knox county mountains on the largest moonshine raid ever attempted in the Kentucky mountains, it is learned here today. There was no word from the raiders up to noon today.

"Fatty's" Wife Asks Public To Give Him Square Deal

(By Associated Press)
San Francisco, Sept. 19.—Mrs. Roscoe Arbuckle, ("Minta Durfee") arrived here today to assist her actor-husband who is charged with the murder of Miss Virginia Rappe. Attorneys for Arbuckle denied her to all interviewers, but Mrs. Arbuckle gave out a statement asking the people "to be fair with her husband and give him a square deal." She added "I know and friends know, he is innocent."

Dress of Rope Pearls

Worn By Film Star
Corinne Griffith wears a gown made entirely of ropes of pearls in "What's Your Reputation Worth?" which will be shown at the local theatres Monday. She is noted for the extraordinary and bizarre gowns she wears in her pictures, and the pearl dress is one of the most unusual and beautiful. It is worn in a scene that represents a dream fantasy of the star and gives the scene a strange and dreamlike appearance.

Percy Marmont, a favorite of the screen, who has appeared in many of Vitagraph's successes, and who played opposite Corinne Griffith in "The Climbers," is again seen as the leading man.

MADISON NEARING "OVER THE TOP"

Lots of Tobacco Signed Up Last Week and a Little More Work Will Do It

"As a result of the intensive drive made for signers to the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association last week, it is believed that fully 60 per cent of this year's crop has been signed up. Estimates based on last year's crop which is said to have been 40 per cent greater than this year's, would indicate that about half that poundage has been pledged.

Several of the biggest tobacco producers in Madison county put their names to pledges the past week, and all are rallying enthusiastically to the association. A few more days work is expected to put Madison over the top with her 75 per cent necessary to assure the co-operative marketing plan a success this coming crop.

TO TAX LAND NEXT YEAR AT 100 PER CENT

(By Associated Press)
Owensboro, Ky., Sept. 19.—The roads of the state, problems of taxation, public institutions and child welfare work in the state will be discussed at the annual meeting of the County Judges' Association of Kentucky which is to be held here on Wednesday and Thursday of next week. The judges have to deal intimately with all of these problems as well as with the promotion of farm welfare work through county farm agents and farm bureau federations.

Rainey T. Wells, Frankfort, a member of the state tax commission, P. N. Clarke, secretary of the Kentucky Tax Reform Association, both will discuss the tax laws of the state on Wednesday morning. Mr. Wells is expected to deal with the problems of the tax commission while Mr. Clarke will discuss the good which it is claimed has come from the new tax laws which became effective in 1917 and which next year will result in an assessment of 100 per cent valuation.

The problem of county government as seen by the layman will be discussed at the same session by Henry S. Berry, of Owensboro.

Wednesday afternoon Joe S. Boggs, State Highway Engineer, Ben Wille, secretary of State Highway Commission, and S. J. Boone and A. W. Partee, state engineers, will tell of the trials of road builders and what is needed before the state will have a good system of highways. Their talks will be followed by a general discussion and an automobile tour of the country around Owensboro.

Reos Lose Tough Game

Jim Park lost a hard luck game pitching for the Reos at Lexington Sunday. He held the Winchester Hustlers to four hits, while his men gathered 11 off Tommy Long, Louisville American Association boxman who was on the mound for Winchester. Poor support lost the game for Park. Pete Hisle, Earl Combs and Curt Park, Madison boys, played great ball for the Reos today. Scores of fans from Madison county went over to see this, the deciding game of the three-game series between these two fast teams. The Reos have one and lost two.

SHOPMEN VOTE STRIKE

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Railroad shopmen belonging to the six federated shop crafts unions, have voted to strike against the general wage reduction of July, 1921, but will defer action until the promulgation of working rules now pending before the United States Railroad Labor Board, when another vote will be taken on acceptance or rejection of the rules.

This announcement was made officially by B. M. Jewell, head of the shop crafts organization, at a mass meeting of Chicago shop workers, Sunday. Belief that a stronger fight could be made if a strike is called, with preservation of the shop men's working rules as one of the goals, led to the decision to withhold a strike call for the present, Mr. Jewell said.

FOOTBALL SEASON OPENS SATURDAY

Centre College Plays Kentucky Wesleyan at Danville—Some Collegiate Schedules

(By Associated Press)
Lexington, Ky., Sept. 19.—The 1921 football season in Kentucky on Saturday will be formally opened with a curtain-raiser contest between Centre College and Kentucky Wesleyan at Danville. In most instances other institutions will not start their seasons until one week later.

Most of the colleges and universities in the state report better prospects than last year. At Centre the prospects are reported to be for a team as good as that of the last three years, while University of Kentucky enthusiasts declare that the Wildcat squad is better looking than at any time in the history of the institution.

Coach J. B. Sibley at Winchester reports that his team will be light but fast while from Georgetown reports state that there are more and better football players than in some years.

The schedule of the larger institutions are arranged largely to give their teams practice and Kentucky Wesleyan has tackled a hard job in scheduling its first two games with Centre and the University of Kentucky. Georgetown will face Cumberland College in its first contest on Sept. 30 and its second game will be at Crawfordsville, Ind., where Wash will be played. Transylvania will not open until October 8 when the Crimson squad will journey to Greencastle, Ind., to play Depauw University.

The schedules of the Kentucky teams, the University of Louisville, Berea College and the normal schools not having yet arranged their schedules, follows: University of Kentucky: October 1—Kentucky Wesleyan at Lexington; October 8—Marshall College at Lexington; October 11—Vanderbilt at Lexington; October 22—Sewanee at Louisville; October 29—Georgetown at Lexington; Nov. 2—Centre at Danville; Nov. 12—Virginia Military Institute at Louisville; Nov. 24—Tennessee at Lexington.

Centre College: Sept. 24—Kentucky Wesleyan at Danville; Oct. 1—Clemson at Danville; Oct. 8—Virginia Polytechnic at Danville; Oct. 15—St. Xavier at Cincinnati; Oct. 22—Transylvania at Lexington; Oct. 29—Harvard at Cambridge; Nov. 5—Kentucky at Danville; Nov. 12—Auburn at Birmingham; Nov. 19—Washington and Lee at Louisville; Nov. 24—open.

Georgetown College: Sept. 30—Cumberland at Georgetown; Oct. 8—Wabash at Crawfordsville; Oct. 15—Chattanooga at Chattanooga; Oct. 22—Depauw at Greencastle, Ind.; Nov. 5—Kentucky Wesleyan at Winchester; Nov. 12—Marshall College at Georgetown; Nov. 19—Transylvania at Georgetown; Nov. 24—open.

Transylvania College: Oct. 8—Depauw at Greencastle, Ind.; Oct. 15—Kentucky Wesleyan at Winchester; Oct. 22—Centre at Lexington; Nov. 8—Marysville College at Lexington; Nov. 19—Georgetown at Georgetown; Nov. 24—open; no Thanksgiving day game scheduled.

Kentucky Wesleyan: Sept. 24—Centre at Danville; Oct. 1—Kentucky at Lexington; Oct. 8—possibly Eastern State Normal; Oct. 15—Transylvania at Winchester; Oct. 22—Cincinnati at Cincinnati; Oct. 29—open; Nov. 5—Georgetown at Winchester; Nov. 12—Morris Harvey at Winchester; no Thanksgiving day game scheduled.

Ireland Stops Income Tax

(By Associated Press)
Belfast, Ireland, Sept. 19.—Irish republican authorities have warned the people of some of the districts of Ireland to refuse to pay income taxes to British collectors until the Dail Eireann has reached a decision on that subject.

Rev. C. F. Chestnut, appointed to the Clay County Mission, by the Somerset Methodist conference, sustained a broken limb while hauling a load of wood at London.

EIFFEL TOWER BUILDER

An exceedingly rare photograph is this one, because it pictures the man who built the Eiffel tower. Pictures of Mr. Eiffel are very rare, indeed. The photograph was made on top of the famous tower he built in Paris, during a dinner tendered by him to the wireless engineers of the United States. It shows the venerable inventor and engineer (at left) shaking hands with Mr. Swasey, the president of the Wireless Engineers of America.

To Help Pick New President For Transylvania

On his way to the big Christian convention at Louisville, Dr. Homer W. Carpenter stopped at Lexington Monday. He is member of Board of Curators of Transylvania University and College of the Bible, who will endeavor to elect a successor to President R. H. Crossfield, resigned, last spring.

There was no definite advance selection of the man who probably will head the affiliated colleges but Dr. J. P. McConnell, president of the State Normal School at East Radford, Va., is being seriously considered, according to W. Hume Logan, of Louisville, chairman of the Board of Curators of Transylvania, who added that Dr. McConnell had been offered the presidency and had it under consideration. Dr. McConnell visited Lexington several months ago and at that time it was stated that his acceptance was in doubt.

SWIFT'S PRODUCE REVIEW

Receipts of eggs have been lighter during the week, with some advance in prices for really fine stock.

Less cream has been received at creameries, resulting in a firmer feeling and higher prices. Good demand continues for current consumption.

An advance in the market of fowl and chickens has been reflected in producing sections but it is regarded as of temporary character and heavier marketing is expected.

The large number of Leghorn chickens reaching market was particularly noticeable, and buyers are discriminating in favor of the larger breed, resulting in lower prices being paid for Leghorns and smaller varieties of chickens.

Operated On Child's Brain Without Anesthetic, In Knox

(By Associated Press)
Barbourville, Ky., Sept. 17.—An operation in which part of a child's brain was removed without an anesthetic recently was performed at Cannon, this county it has just been learned here. The five-year-old son of Frank Tuttle, living near Cannon, was kicked on the head by a mule and his skull fractured. Part of the brain protruded and it was necessary for this to be removed. Dr. Leslie Logan arrived on the scene before the child had recovered from the shock of the blow enough to feel pain, operated immediately and without anesthetic. The boy recovered consciousness after three hours and is said to be on the road to recovery.

Animals Prepare for Hard Winter

New York, Sept. 19.—The birds and beasts that live in the Bronx Zoo are preparing for an early and hard winter. Although they live in luxury and don't have to worry about their next meal, they are instinctively hoarding up food—all classes of animals scent a hard winter, keepers say. Squirrels are putting in full days storing up unusually large quantities of nuts. Prairie dogs, a month ahead of time, are secreting lots of food into their underground homes. Robins and blackbirds are flocking together and showing unmistakable signs of preparing for migration to southern climes.

The Reds defeated Boston in both games of a double header at Cincinnati Sunday. The scores were 6-3, 10-3.

Tobacco Land Prices

(Courier-Journal)
Supporters of the plan to market tobacco co-operatively who express the opinion that the adoption of the plan will steady and advance land values in the tobacco counties make a reasonable argument.

A tobacco planter's plant, in the business sense of the term, is a farm and its equipment. His equivalent of factory operatives can be procured year after year. He must find his profit—his reason for operating his plant—in finding a market in which he can sell what he produces for more than the cost of production. If he is without a fair chance in the market he is in the situation of a manufacturer who has a complete equipment for producing a costly article of commodity, but is without means of selling his product upon a basis that warrants the operation of the plant.

A good deal of tobacco land in the white burley district was bought high during the war. Some of it was bought too high but the demoralized state of the tobacco land is due to demoralization of tobacco prices in a market in which the planter has not a fair chance rather than to the fact that land was not bought conservatively.

Kentucky planters who bought more land than they could pay for in cash and who have witnessed their equity shrink, but with land on their hands that cannot be sold save at sacrifice are in a dilemma not so much because they paid too much for their land as because there is too little prospect under the old marketing plan, to get regularly a fair price for tobacco.

The adoption of the plan of co-operative marketing would steady the value of tobacco land and simplify the problem of the planters who are in difficulties because their land notes are large their interest high and their hope of profits slender.

A factory without a selling organization is, so long as it remains without the selling organization, a bad investment to hold. It is a poor investment to convert into cash unless a buyer is found who will undertake to organize the selling end of the business.

No individual can organize the selling end of a plant consisting of land and equipment which produces tobacco. Only by organization of growers can organization of the selling end be effected.

When it is asserted that Kentucky tobacco land during the war brought "ridiculous prices" the assertion cannot be based upon anything but acceptance of the old plan of selling tobacco as the permanent plan. Where selling is organized, as for example in California, prune, raisin and citrus fruits regions, the acreage prices of productive land are such that the war prices of Kentucky tobacco land do not seem "ridiculous."

If tobacco marketing were upon a basis of assured profit for the producer of every crop of good quality tobacco land prices which seemed unreasonably high when they were paid during the war would seem reasonable.

Reasonable buyers always will buy and reasonable sellers always will hold farm lands at prices relative to the returns upon operation which may be counted upon reasonably. For many years Kentucky tobacco lands have sold at much less than they would have been worth had a fair annual profit on good tobacco been assured.

At a called meeting of the Sunday school at the First Baptist church Sunday morning, Mr. Douglas Chenault was unanimously chosen superintendent to succeed the late L. P. Evans who had so faithfully and efficiently filled the position for a quarter of a century. The church is exceedingly fortunate in their selection and with the full co-operation of the church there is no doubt Mr. Chenault will make an officer of which the body will be exceedingly proud and it is hoped the Sunday school will rally to his support and he will be as greatly beloved as his faithful predecessor.

AMERICAN FARMERS COLONY IN PERU

(By Associated Press)

Lima, Peru, Sept. 17.—Members of the party of American farmers mostly from the western part of the United States, who recently left here to establish a farm colony in the Pampa del Sacramento Valley along the eastern head waters of the Amazon river in Northern Peru, have abandoned the project and five of them have returned to Lima. The whole party which left here was in charge of J. B. Schoenfelt, of Oklahoma, formerly United States Indian agent for Oklahoma territory.

The returned colonists brought tales of hardships encountered and reported that the district they had visited on the slope of the Amazon were unfavorable to their scheme of colonization.

Schoenfelt and the remainder of the party are continuing the journey with a view of reaching their ultimate destination on the Sacramento pampas where they have grants of land.

Some of the returned members of the party propose to locate in Lima and vicinity.

The group of American farmers who left Lima for the interior of Peru in July was an advanced guard of a colonization scheme said to involve more than 200 families from the western part of the United States. Mr. Schoenfelt was quoted as saying in Lima that he had obtained a grant of 650,000 acres of agricultural forestry land from the Peruvian government and that the American farmers would have obtained farms there at the cost of a few cents per acre fee simple as soon as 200 families had been settled on the concession.

Farmers Going To Argentina

(By Associated Press)

Buenos Aires, Sept. 19.—Many applications for settlement on land in Argentina have been received from the United States and Canada. The recent government decree opens up 15,000,000 acres of government land for the establishment of colonies in different parts of the republic.

These government lands are to be sold to colonists but it is understood here that the price will be low. They are located as far north as Misiones near the Brazilian border, where the climate is tropical and as far south as Terra Del Fuego, which corresponds to the latitude of Labrador. Some of the land already is partly colonized and it is understood that the titles of the present settlers will be adjusted.

The government colonization plan generally is approved by the newspapers because of the excessively high land values prevailing. Land is, comparatively speaking, in the hands of a few individuals who hold the price too high to make it attractive to immigrants, or who will not sell at all.

WANTS INFORMATION ON KU KLUX KLAN

Col. Oldham Tells of Its Former Ideals and Wants To Know
Its Purposes Now

The Daily Register has received the following letter about the organization of a Ku Klux Klan here in Richmond, which is self-explanatory:

Editor Daily Register.

My Dear and Valued Friend—

I have just read an article in the Daily Register which indicates the probable organization of a chapter of the Ku Klux Klan in Richmond and in Madison county. I am sure of one thing and that is that no local chapter of this Klan will ever be organized here unless the underlying principles of this organization are right and proper. Madison county people have always been a conservative people and they always look before they leap.

I will confess that I am not determined as yet in my own mind on this question but I have very grave doubt as to the possibilities for good in such an organization as I expect this one to be.

The old Ku Klux Klan originated in Pulaski, Tenn., in the fall of 1865. At first, we are told, it consisted of a club of young men who had served in the Confederate army, who united for the purpose of fun and mischief, just as college boys do in secret fraternities today. The name was a corruption of the Greek word "kuklos" meaning circular. They adopted fantastic disguises, their regalia consisting of a tall cardboard hat covered with black cloth and a mask and a long robe made of any kind or color of cloth reaching to the heels. Soon after its organization, discovery of its power over the negro was made. The night processions of this order in ghastly disguises frightened the superstitious negroes who were told that they were the spirits of dead Confederate soldiers. With this discovery, a total change took place in the spirit of the order and the purpose of it then became serious.

About two years later the Tennessee organization asked that branches in the Southern States send delegates to a convention to be held in Nashville and delegates from all of the Gulf States and several others did attend and the new order of the Ku Klux Klan was organized in 1867. There were delegates present from the state of Illinois and also from Pennsylvania. The order was, at that time, in the hands of responsible people and I find that the following declaration of principles was there adopted:

"This is an institution of chivalry, humanity, mercy, and patriotism, embodying in its genius and its principles all that is chivalrous in conduct, noble in sentiment, generous in mahood, and patriotic in purpose, its peculiar objects being, first, to protect the weak, the innocent and the defenseless from the indignities, wrongs and outrages of the lawless, the violent and the brutal, to relieve the injured and oppressed, to succor the suffering and unfortunate, and especially the widows and orphans of Confederate soldiers. Second, to protect and defend the Constitution of the United States, and of laws passed in conformity thereto, and to protect the States and the people thereof from all invasion from any source whatever. Third, to assist and aid in the execution of all Constitutional laws and to protect the people from unlawful seizure and trial except by their peers in conformity to the laws of the land."

I submit this was an admirable creed and the banding together of all good people for the enforcement of that creed was at that time necessary. I readily admit that the Klan at that time did great work in assisting the several states in the South to pass through the period of reconstruction. At the same time, I can not see there is any necessity for such an organization in America today in either the North or the South. Happy are we that those of the North no longer sing "We will hang Jeff Davis to a sour apple tree," and in the South we have forgotten "John Brown's body lies moulding in the grave," and that today, in blessed concert we sing America, "My Country 'Tis of Thee." We don't need a Ku Klux Klan any longer in America.

A candidate for the old order was asked if he would oppose negro equality, political and social; if he was in favor of the white man's government, of constitutional liberty and equitable laws. The order spread rapidly over the South and became a band of "regulators," using mystery, disguise and secrecy to terrify the negro into good behavior.

It is the nature of all such societies to degenerate and the old Ku Klux Klan was no exception to the rule. It soon came under the control of a class of men who used it to further their own personal aims, to wreak revenge on their enemies and to gratify personal animosity. Outrages were frequent and the order at last became dangerous to good government and finally suffered a universal collapse after it had been in existence about three years.

Now, in perfect fairness to the proposed new organization, may I not say that I am not well informed as to its objects and purposes. But I know that it could have no finer creed than the old one had and I know that it can get no better men connected with it than were the promoters of the old Klan and perhaps not as good for the reason that no man can imagine a necessity for such an organization in America today. Pray tell me, why should we have to organize secret societies to uphold the law of this great and free country? The thought of it is repulsive to the man who knows, and every citizen knows, that each private citizen has a right to get a warrant for any person known to be violating any law, and, after that warrant is obtained, he has all of the people back of him and all the machinery of the laws and the courts of justice supporting him and he needs no sinister or secret force to assist.

I am seeking information. I want, if an organizer comes here, that he hold public meetings and that no man shall join that organization on any information except such as he may receive in public in open meetings or from reading in the public press. I want to know the plan and the objects of the proposed new 1922 model of the Kuklox Klan. I might then be glad to join it myself, but I can see no reason for such a society.

It can not be that there is any fear of negro domination in this country. The negro has been given certain rights under our constitution and I would be as quick to defend those rights our forefathers gave to the negro as would any member of the negro race. There is some talk of race war and a danger that lurks in the background, but it lurks "way back" and there is not a semblance of danger from it. The average American negro knows his place in this country, he knows what the white man has done for him, and, in his way, he appreciates it and he knows that he would be hopeless and helpless without the continuing help of the white man. There is no trouble there.

It can not be a religious matter that so needs the attention of this new Klan. There is no fear of any religious war in America. I am a Protestant but I recognize with all my heart and soul the absolute and guaranteed right of every man to worship God as he desires according to the dictates of his own conscience, or not to worship at all. As long as we live in the letter and spirit of the Constitution of the United States, there will be no religious trouble in America.

So, what is this terrible thing about to happen in this great and free country that we need, and must have a secret order to protect the homes of this land? As I see it, if we can get proper protection from a few self-serving politicians in this country we will make liberty secure in America forever and this can be done with the ballot and done publicly without a secret society. The American people are a liberty-loving and a law-abiding people. The law of the land is respected in this country save perhaps in the case of the Volstead law, which was written into law without the consent of the majority of our citizens and at a time when four million valiant defenders of the flag were three thousand miles from home and which law seems to command but scant regard from the majority of good citizens everywhere. We have nothing to fear except that an insidious lobby in the national capital might throw the good old Constitution to the four winds, and if there is such danger as that no secret order will prevent it, but the voice of the people must be heard.

A Kuklux government could not be established in America today. It is a government of fright and will not be tolerated. I know Kentuckians will not submit to it. A Kentucky citizen knows his legal rights and he knows he has but one life to live and he will gladly give that life in defense of those rights and you can not frighten him. He will be lead but never driven.

I trust that I am not doing an injustice to this organization when I ask for information. I am advised that the new Klan headquarters has been granted a charter by the state of Georgia. That is not material. They tell me that the leader styles himself the "Imperial Wizard." Good enough. "A rose by any other name would smell as sweet." I must confess that I am afraid that this organization will be like others I have observed whose motives were apparently altruistic enough but which accomplished only one thing in particular and that was the enrichment of its leaders. An organization was promoted in America whose membership rapidly spread to every state in this country. Even preachers, good and saintly men, but nevertheless gullible, were ensnared into this political fly trap. The apparent objects and purposes of that organization were such that no man could oppose them. Today, its leaders are rich. They are professional "regulators" who want Congress to tell us whether we shall smoke or not where we shall go to church and when, what we shall drink, what we shall wear and how we shall think—they have an insidious lobby in Washington, well paid and backed with as large a corruption fund as was ever raised in the political history of this country and the Hon. Wayne B. Wheeler, member extraordinary of United States Senate, not elected by the people, chairman plenipotentiary of Congressional committees, not appointed by anybody, more nearly approaches Lenin and Trotsky of Russia than any other man in public or private life today. With all that, we do not need a secret society.

I am afraid of secret societies in America. I want to belong to but one "Klan" and that the army of the great and free citizenship of America with the ballot in my hand and the right to do as I like with that ballot and to be questioned by no man or set of men concerning my use of it.

I submit this to you not knowing whether or not it is the popular opinion and sentiment in the community. I have never concerned myself with popular opinion as long as I believed I was right and, I assure you, I have no desire to cater to it now.

With every expression of personal esteem and friendly regard, I am, cordially yours,

"Why Are You Doing It?"

THERE ARE PEOPLE—FAIR MINDED AND WELL DISPOSED PEOPLE, TOO, —who are afraid that something "sleek" and mysterious lurks in our customer ownership plan. They do not question the merit of the investment, but think that somewhere the Company has a concealed motive.

THE ONLY "SLICK" THING ABOUT IT is the fact that it fools the "slickers," and has kept a lot of the savings of local citizens from going into frauds and wildcat speculations.

THE ONLY MYSTERY lies in the wonder why successful, well managed electric light companies did not invite the people to become profit sharing partners long ago.

"PRETTY SMOOTH" some folks say, you get the people to invest their money with you because it will lessen public criticism.

THEY HIT THE NAIL SQUARELY ON THE HEAD. Any service company that expects to serve well must have public friendliness and good-will. It can not get anywhere at all if the people are unfriendly. We want every man, woman and child to think well of us, and to deserve their good opinion.

BUT ALONG WITH THIS GOOD WILL BUILDING, goes the important matter of financing. Demands for our services grow all the time. Additions and extensions are constantly required to keep up with the city's development.

LAST YEAR we put approximately $300,000.00 of our new share holders' money into property improvements serving the public welfare. Their capital now earns $21,000.00 a year. Paid to them in dividends that stay home.

THIS NEW CAPITAL, invested in public service was raised at considerably less expense to the company than it could have been obtained through the old time investment channels, wherein only the wealthy investor had the opportunity to invest.

WE ARE SELLING OUR 7 PER CENT. PREFERRED STOCK to our customers successfully and economically—to make more friends and to finance improvements necessary to the property, comfort and economy of citizens—to us these reasons seem very practical and definite.

WM. S. HART AT MOVIES TUESDAY

When Wm. S. Hart was fifteen years old, he left the Dakota territory for New York City. He lived in the vicinity of 56th street with his parents. Even at that age, the famous Paramount western star, whose own productions are recognized as the greatest of their kind, was a skilled horseman. He loves horses, and naturally, they love him.

He wanted to work when not going to school and one day, at 130 West Fifty-sixth street, he entered a riding academy to ask for a job. He was a real rider, having learned when among the Indians, with his father, in earlier boyhood. They gave him a chance to work out skittish cobs in Central Park and he made quite a bit of pocket money thereby.

Two years ago when on a Liberty Loan tour, Mr. Hart dropped into the Fifty-sixth street studio of the Famous Players-Lasky, which he had not hitherto visited. To his astonishment he found that it was the old riding school of his boyhood now transformed. "It brought back old times,"
